

- Who : ConstructionJobs.com - the premier Internet job board and resume database built exclusively for the construction and design industries.
- What : Simple, cost-effective and efficient online resource where companies can advertise open positions and search our 8,000+ candidate database of qualified professionals. The site is free for job seekers to search industry openings and post resumes!
- Why : Streamline your recruiting efforts, save time and cut employee acquisition costs. Highly marketed job site for trade, entry, mid and upper level management professionals. Receive 20% discount on all standard rates for job postings and resume database searches! 5% royalty funneled back to NSSGA for all member subscriptions!

Employers have access to one of the largest databases specialized in matching construction professionals to national industry openings. From craft and entry level to mid and upper level management, our site provides advanced targeted searches by geographic region, specific industries, job title, education and experience.

For annual subscribers, we will offer executive recruiting customer support for their open positions. This entails candidate prescreening and development, free of charge.

Jobs seekers benefit by using an industry specific site - ensuring that their resume will be seen by employers actively pursuing candidates with their specific qualifications. The site features over 100 construction-specific industries and over 100 job titles to chose from ensuring the most targeted search methods available.

Whether its candidate searching, single or unlimited job postings, our online recruiting environment will transform your normal hiring process into a strategic organized system of qualified candidates.
